

Sales Comfort Specialist

Description

We are hiring. We don't do this often. Our staff have a tendency to stay. 34 years for our warehouse manager, 20 years for one salesman, 15 years for another, 10 years for the assistant warehouse manager. Even the part-timer who is going to school to become a teacher is going on 5 years.

We hired a gentleman 14 months ago and he is very happy making very good money; Took us a year to find him.

We are in need of a salesperson. Part time to start and maybe full time. Company hours are on our website and you must be willing to work any of those hours. Must be computer-literate squirrel, familiar with a Point-of-Sale platform such as STORIS, some sort of till. Will be asked to generate signs on the computer, dust, keep the store clean, and treat all people who come in the door with respect as much as is possible.

Must have minimum three years' experience in high-end retail. Selling quality goods, hard or soft, to intelligent people.

Retired and looking for 2/3/4 days a week?
